

Phases of Love

The Phases of Love are inevitable when it comes to being in relationships. It's something that we all experience no matter where we come from or who we are! No one relationship is perfect. As humans, we all have emotions and egos. Sometimes they get the best of us and we search for ways to either hold our relationships together or let them go. From the start of a relationship, to the break ups, and to the make ups, we all go through the test of trials! In the end, the question is, How strong is your love for your mate? You be the judge! Please Enjoy!
