

The Aviation Stories My Mom Didn't Want to Hear ...And I Lived to Tell: Black and White Version

A must read for anyone that has ever flown as a passenger, who is a pilot, or who wants to be a pilot! A fun book to read by anyone. Hang on to your seats! Action packed true-life stories from a perspective no one ever hears about. This is what happens in the air outside of the general public's eyes. From a student pilot to flying professionally, the title says it all! Now boarding: Humor, Action, Adventure, Fear and Adrenaline. Grab your sick sack! Jason Gansen has had a pilot license for 21 years. For the last 16 years, Jason has been writing down stories from friends and his own experiences from what it's like building an aviation career. After several close calls and ultimately losing his aviation medical, the stories are ready for the world, but is the world ready for them? Contains some strong language. Not suitable for young readers. Each story is broken down into individualized, easy to read chapters in chronological order.
