

Lethal Choice

Our two greatest end-of-life fears are unnecessary prolonged pain and suffering, and mere existence in a state of total indignity and dependency such as in Alzheimers dementia. Uninformed, some choose to die prematurely; others, violently; a few risk imprisonment by mercy killing. Often their lament is, If only Physician-Assisted Suicide were legal. Yet there is a legal alternative: Voluntary Refusal of Food & Fluid -- a truly peaceful way to hasten dying by dehydration. It may take 7 to 14 days but it allows for the exchange of healing goodbyes with loved ones who can forever be sure it was the patient did not changed his/her mind. It may be the only option for those suffering from advanced dementia. Knowing how to control thirst is essential. (The author fasted twice.) The book-within-a-book format contains poignant memoirs, cartoon, and guides that consider the emotional, practical, clinical, legal, moral, ethical, religious, spiritual, and political aspects of a subject that will affect us all.
